We invite the attention of the public to our attractive pharmacy, located on the west corner of First and Stark streets, which is supplied with a clean, fresh stock of drugs and medicines, fine perfumes, soaps, toilet articles, etc., which have been selected with and are offered at lowest prices.

We have made many changes and improvements in our store, and purpose extending the improvement still further.

It is our intention to make the Prescription Department the leading feature of our business, and with this view in mind we have just added to our stock a complete line of Dr Squibb's world renowned pharmaceutical preparations, which for purity and reliability stand unrivaled, being prepared and used by the most eminent physicians and skillful pharmacists throughout the country. These medicines will be exclusively dispensed in physicians' prescriptions, in addition to the laboratory products of the best manufacturers in the world. This course we deem due to the patient, just to the physicians and wise for ourselves. Though higher priced than ordinary articles, these preparations will be dispensed at popular prices.

Believing that our efforts to supply the public with the best of everything in our line will be appreciated, and soliciting a share of your patronage on business principles, we are, yours respectfully,

This is to certify that I am well acquainted with a man fifty years of age, for many years a resident of this city, who has been at times extremely ill, but could not tell from what cause, unless it was worms. He told his attending physician his suspicions, but the physician at once ridiculed the idea, and refused to attend him any longer. His son then mentioned Dr C. McLane's Vermifuge, and asked him if he would take it; his reply was—I must take something to get relief, or die.

They at once procured a bottle of Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge, and he took one dose. The result was he passed upwards of three quarts of worms, cut up in every form. He got well immediately, and is now enjoying excellent health; and, like the good Samaritan of old, is endeavoring to relieve his unfortunate neighbors. He makes it his business to hunt up and select all cases similar to his own, that may be given over by regular physicians, and induces them to try Dr. C. McLane's Vermifuge. So far he has induced more than twenty persons to take the Vermifuge, and in every case with the most happy results. He is well satisfied that Dr C McLane's Vermifuge, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, is far superior to any other known remedy, and that if more generally known would not fail to save many valuable lives. For further particulars inquire of Mrs Hardie, 114½ Canben street, New York City.

The Supreme Court Renders a Decision Relating to the Edmunds Act—Death of Assistant Secretary Clark—Washington Notes

Senate

WASHINGTON, March [illegible]—The senate [illegible] the following nominations [illegible] to be envoys extraordinary and ministers plenipotentiary of the United States: Edward J. Phelps, Vermont, to Great Britain; Robert M. McLane, Maryland, to France; George H. Pendleton, Ohio, to Germany; Henry R. Jackson, Georgia, to Mexico. Also M. S. Penton, Missouri, United States marshal for the western district of Missouri; Benjamin H. Hill Jr., United States attorney for the northern district of Georgia; David S. Baker, Jr., United States attorney for the district of Rhode Island. The senate [illegible] confirmed the nomination of Senator [illegible].

The senate in secret session discussed the Nicaragua treaty, and Senators Morgan and Voorhees spoke in its support. The treaty was not disposed of. A majority of the senate are understood to be in favor of its ratification, but friends of the [illegible] With the doors reopened the senate adjourned.

MINISTERIAL NOMINATIONS

Cleveland's Selections of Men to Represent the United States Abroad

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Edward J. Phelps, nominated as minister to England, is a prominent lawyer of Vermont. He is about 60 years of age and is possessed of ample fortune. He is ex-president of the American Bar association [illegible] He has several times been democratic candidate for governor of Vermont, but [illegible] Mr Phelps is [illegible] who speaks in the highest terms of his character and ability.

McLANE AND JACKSON

Robert M. McLane, nominated as minister to France, is the present governor of Maryland.

Henry Rootes Jackson, nominated as minister to Mexico, is a native of Georgia and 64 years of age. He was graduated from Yale college in 1839 and shortly afterward was admitted to the bar. He was colonel of a Georgia regiment in the Mexican war and for four succeeding years was judge of the eastern circuit of Georgia. In 1853 he was sent to represent the United States at Vienna, Austria, where he remained five years. During the rebellion he was a southern brigadier general and had a command on the upper Potomac. Since the war Jackson has practiced law in Georgia. He has of late years held no public office. He is a man of large fortune and is highly endorsed by prominent men of his state. Mr Jackson is the author of several poems, "Tallulah" being among them.

BALTIMORE WELL PLEASED

BALTIMORE, March 23.—The nomination of Governor McLane to the French mission by President Cleveland causes general gratification in Baltimore, and little else has been talked of since its announcement. There is no doubt of his acceptance. The president of the senate, Henry Lloyd, will be ex-officio governor until the legislature elects a governor to fill the unexpired term. Higgins' appointment is lost sight of in the great compliment paid Maryland.

THE EDMUNDS ACT

The Supreme Court Renders a Decision in a Series of Five Cases

WASHINGTON, March 23.—A decision was rendered in the supreme court of the United States to-day in a series of five cases known as polygamy suits, brought by certain Mormon citizens of Utah for the purpose of compelling a judicial decision as to the power of the board of commissioners or canvassers appointed under the so-called Edmunds act of March 22d to supervise elections in that territory. The plaintiffs and appellants in these cases are Jesse J. Murphy, Mary Ann Pratt, Mildred E. and Alfred Randall, Ellen C. and Hiram B. Clawson and James M. Barlow. Defendants and appellees are Alex Ramsey and others constituting the federal board of commissioners and certain registration officers appointed by them.

The principal question raised by the suits is whether the board of commissioners appointed under the Edmunds act had power to prescribe, as a condition to voters, a discriminating test oath, requiring applicants for registration to swear that he or she is not living in a state of bigamy or polygamy. This court holds that the rules promulgated by the board prescribing form of oath to be exacted from persons offering to register as voters, and which constitute directions under which it is alleged the registration officers acted in the cases herein complained of, were without force and that no effect can be given them. It cannot be alleged, the court holds, that they had the effect in law of preventing the registration of plaintiffs, for the registration officers were not bound or authorized to obey them and if they did so they did it in their own wrong. There was no relation between the board and the officers appointed by them of principal and agents so as to make members of the former liable for what the latter may have illegally done under their instructions, and therefore no connection in law between the acts of the board as charged and the wrongs complained of. If it be supposed the board had the power which it seems they claimed and exercised of putting into form rules for the government of registration officers, such acts of administration were not ministerial, and cannot be a ground for action. They would be of that class which involves exercise of judgment and discretion in public officers, and which even when erroneous cannot furnish a cause of action for damages. In either view therefore the judgment in favor of the board of commissioners in the court below was rightly rendered.

RESPONSIBILITY OF REGISTRATION OFFICERS

As regards the power and responsibility of registration officers the court holds that they were merely ministerial officers and if they deprived complainants of their right to be registered as voters in violation of law they are responsible in an action for damages.

The court then takes up and examines the cases separately, and holds that complainants Mary Ann Pratt and Mildred E. Randall were clearly deprived of their right to registration without authority of law, since, by their allegations they exclude themselves from all disqualifications of the act of 1882. Ellen Clawson, Jesse J. Murphy and James M. Barlow on the other hand were, the court holds, included in the disqualifications of the act and had no right to registration. In reaching these conclusions the court in its opinion makes an elaborate review of the act of 1882 for the purpose of giving construction to some of its provisions and showing how they apply to the present cases. By that act the court holds it is made the duty of registration officers to see that persons offering to register are free from the disqualifications affixed therein. In so doing they are required to exercise diligence and good faith in their inquiries, and are responsible in damages for rejections made without reasonable cause, or maliciously.

In the cases of Mary Ann Pratt and Mildred E. Randall above referred to the allegations of the complaint not only show that complainants were legally entitled to be registered as voters, but declare that the refusal of the registration officers to admit them to the list was wrongful and malicious. Demurrers admit the case is thus stated, and it should therefore have been overruled.

THE ACT CONSTITUTIONAL

In conclusion Justice Matthews, who delivers the opinion of the court, says with reference to the constitutionality of the above mentioned act: Counsel for appellants in the argument seemed to question the constitutional power of congress to pass the act of March 22, 1882, so far as it abridges rights of electors in the territory under previous laws. But that question is, we think, no longer open to discussion. It has passed beyond the stage of controversy into the final judgment. The people of the United States as sovereign owners of the national territories have supreme power over them and their inhabitants. In the exercise of this sovereign dominion they are represented by the government of the United States to whom all powers of the government over that subject have been delegated, subject only to such restrictions as are expressed in the constitution or necessarily implied in its terms or in the purposes and objects of the power itself. In ordaining a government for territories and the people who inhabit them all discretion which belongs to legislative power is vested in congress, and that extends beyond any controversy to determining by law from time to time the form of local government in a particular territory and the qualifications of those who shall administer it. It rests with congress to say whether in a given case any of the people resident in a territory shall participate in the election of its officers or the making of its laws, and it may therefore take from them any right of suffrage it may previously have conferred or at any time modify or abridge it, as it may deem expedient.

RIGHTS OF INHABITANTS OF TERRITORIES

The personal and civil rights of inhabitants of territories are secured to them as to all other citizens by the principles of constitutional liberty which restrain all agencies of the government, state and national. Their political rights are franchises which they hold as privileges in the legislative discretion of the congress of the United States. If we concede that this discretion in congress is limited by the obvious purposes for which it was conferred, and that these purposes are satisfied by measures which prepare the people of territories to become citizens of states in the union, still the [illegible]

[illegible] The judgments of the [illegible] in the cases of [illegible] Murphy and [illegible] Barlow were affirmed, [illegible] the cases of Mary Ann Pratt and Mildred E. Randall [illegible]

Secretary Lamar has decided to appoint a commission to investigate the workings of the [illegible] department with a view of reorganizing and [illegible] Chief Clerk Lockwood, Assistant Secretary [illegible], Mr Atkins, commissioner of Indian affairs, and Mr. Montgomery, commissioner of patents, are named as likely to compose the commission.

WASHINGTON, March [illegible]—Postmaster General Vilas last night confirmed the associated press dispatch from Madison, Wis., concerning the appointment of General Bryant, and said he felt glad to have at the head of the law department of [illegible] a gentleman whose political opinions were in consonance with those of the administration. General Bryant is, he said, a democrat and an old personal friend. He is a fine lawyer and has within a year published a notable treatise on the justice system of Wisconsin. Until four years ago he was General Vilas' law partner and was associated with him in editing and publishing the first twenty volumes of reports of the supreme court of Wisconsin. He is about 45 years of age.

TRYING TO CURTAIL EXPENSES

WASHINGTON, March 23.—Secretary Manning to-day sent a circular letter to the heads of bureaus and chiefs of divisions of the treasury department, requesting them to report to him in writing as soon as practicable whether in their opinion the force employed in their respective offices can be reduced, and to what extent, without detriment to the public service. They are also requested to report whether the methods of business can be simplified, and in general to make such suggestions and recommendations as may occur to them as to how the efficiency of the service may be improved, the business of the department facilitated and expenses curtailed.

EXAMINATION OF THE TREASURY BOOKS

WASHINGTON, March 23.—In a very quiet way, secret from the officers, the examination of the books of the treasury has been going on for some days. The expert is C. N. Jordan, ex-cashier of the Third National bank of New York, a friend of Secretary Manning. It is not yet known how far back the investigations will be made, but from the papers called for it is not improbable that eighteen or twenty years will be covered. The only assistant the expert has is a short hand writer from the treasury force. The two gentlemen are locked in a room on the second floor.

DEATH OF ASSISTANT SECRETARY CLARK

WASHINGTON, March 23.—I. D. Clark of Vicksburg, Mississippi, the newly appointed assistant secretary of the interior, who has been suffering from an attack of pneumonia for about ten days, and was considered out of danger, having had a sudden relapse at midnight and died at an early hour this morning.

The remains will be sent to-night to Holly Springs, Miss., in charge of his wife and Senator Walthall. Inasmuch as Clark had not taken the oath of office Joslyn is still assistant secretary of the interior, and has promised Secretary Lamar to remain in office until a successor is appointed.

AGAINST THE UNION PACIFIC

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The report of expert bookkeepers of the railroad commissioner's office on the financial operations of the Union Pacific railway the past year has been received at the interior department. An item of $80,000 has been disputed by President Adams of the Union Pacific Company and was referred to the secretary for settlement, and it is understood the secretary will sustain the position taken by the department experts adverse to the company's claim.

GUARDING THEIR SECRETS

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The messengers and doorkeepers of the senate have been instructed not to talk to outsiders. An additional doorkeeper has been stationed at the gallery door of the senate opening upon the press room. The purpose is to make sure that the publication of executive secrets, which senators think has grown to be an evil of great magnitude, shall no longer continue.

A CALIFORNIAN MENTIONED

WASHINGTON, March 23.—It is rumored here that the President has almost decided to appoint Professor Hilgard of the state of California commissioner of agriculture. He is very highly endorsed for the position.

CALIFORNIA.

NEVADA RECEIVES A FLATTERING OVATION

SAN FRANCISCO, March 23.—There was a tremendous crush at the Grand opera house this evening to hear Nevada, who after three weeks illness made her debut before a San Francisco audience in La Sonnambula. The house was crammed to its utmost capacity. The ovation given Nevada at the close of the first act surpassed anything ever tendered any actress in this city. It is generally acknowledged that this was due more to the fact of her being a Pacific coast girl than to any great artistic merit. Floral offerings were numerous and costly. [illegible] She was called six times and then [illegible] "Home, Sweet Home," but [illegible] from the stage.

JUDGMENT FOR SARAH ALTHEA

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—In the suit of Sarah A. Sharon against William A. Sharon to recover $750 balance remaining unpaid for the months of October, November and December, 1883, on a note made by defendant promising to pay plaintiff for each and every month in the year 1883 the sum of $250, Judge Finn to-day gave judgment in favor of plaintiff.

THE UNITED STATES LOSES

In the case of the United States versus the San Jacinto Tin Company, involving over a million dollars worth of property, Judge Sawyer of the United States circuit court decided to-day in favor of defendant.

GALENA, Ill., March 23.—The First Methodist church of which General Grant was a member when a citizen of Galena, to-day forwarded him words of sympathy in his affliction and assurances of prayers for his recovery.

DR BURCHARD DELIVERS A LECTURE

NEW YORK, March 23.—Rev. Dr. Burchard delivered a lecture on "Men I have met" at the United Presbyterian Church to-night. He complained of pains in the head, heart and back before he began. He told the reporters if they came to hear a mention of any prominent men which had been lately before the public they would be disappointed. Dr Burchard said the daily papers had mistaken him for a religious slough, an ecclesiastical dude, an old fool and a mule with ears like the animal of Balaam. He had been called everything but a thief and a liar. Only last week he had been taken for a plumber. He has also been mistaken for the head waiter of a hotel in Venice. Referring to price and riches the speaker made use of the words "person, purse and palace" and then added: You see I am given to alliteration. [illegible] Dr. Burchard said he had been called a bigot. He defined that he was a bigot, who was one who stood on a segment of truth and never looked around the circle.

POOLING CONTRACTS LEGAL

CLEVELAND, March 23.—Justice Stanley Matthews of the supreme court of the United States has just delivered an opinion virtually holding pooling contracts legal. The Central Trust Company of New York brought suit to foreclose $2,000,000 in first mortgage bonds of the Ohio Central Railroad Company. The latter corporation had at the time with the Baltimore and Ohio and the Hocking Valley roads entered into a pooling contract, in which the Ohio Central owed the Hocking Valley $60,000 under arrangement. The Hocking Valley therefore brought in an intervening petition asking for that $60,000. The trust company said the pooling contract was illegal, being in restraint of trade, and void as contrary to public policy. The case was referred to Special Master Bliss, who by consent of counsel referred it to Justice Matthews. The opinion of Justice Matthews has just been received in this city. He sustains the Hocking Valley road, and directs that it be paid the $60,000.

THE OKLAHOMA BOOMERS

KANSAS CITY, March 23.—The Times Arkansas City correspondent telegraphs to-night a refutation of the report that a large number of boomers from Texas and Arkansas and from Coffeeville, Kansas, are in the territory bound for Oklahoma. General Hatch went to Caldwell to-night. Stockmen were to hold a meeting to consider the situation, but no information has been received from the meeting.

STRIKERS CAUSE A RIOT

NEW YORK, March 23.—Three hundred striking operatives at the lace mills of Dalien & Co., at Williams Bridge, Westchester county, last night came in collision with a number of hands brought over from France by the firm to take the strikers' places. During the riot a number of men were seriously injured. Frederick Roe, a spectator, it is thought was fatally hurt. All is quiet this morning.

THE NEW ADMINISTRATION PAPER.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The Commercial says the parties proposing to start a new administration paper here in the interest of the county democracy have bought the press and plant of the Truth. The newspaper will appear about the middle of April. It will be called probably the Morning Telegraph.

JOHN KELLY GOING SOUTH

NEW YORK, March 23.—John Kelly's physicians advise a southern climate and he left with his family Saturday. He will make a short stay at Atlantic City. Kelly has not withdrawn from Tammany, but it is understood among his friends that his leadership is over.

COLD WEATHER IN THE SOUTH

NEW ORLEANS, March 23.—The Picayune's Mississippi specials say: Early fruit and vegetables were destroyed by a heavy freeze. It is freezing again to-night.

WRECKED IN THE LAKE.

A Valuable Propeller, Crushed by Ice, Sinks in Deep Water—The Crew Rescued.

GRAND HAVEN, Mich., March 23.—This afternoon Capt. Prindiville, of the propeller Michigan, reached here and reports the loss of his vessel last Thursday. The steamer sank, but all the crew were taken off by a tug which was near at the time. The Michigan had been locked in the ice for nearly four weeks. The captain reached the shore on the ice. The Michigan was built in 1863 and was valued at $145,000.

PARTICULARS

The steamer Michigan, whose loss is reported to-night, left here February 9 in search of the propeller Oneida, which was imprisoned in the ice and short of provisions. She was caught in the ice and has been frozen in since. She sank about eighteen to twenty miles off Holland at 10 o'clock Thursday afternoon last. Her strong iron sides gave way under the tremendous pressure of the ice which piled up around her to the height of from twenty five to thirty five feet, and were nearly torn away or bent in all conceivable shapes, her port side allowing water to fill her compartments to an extent that soon made it apparent to the commander and crew that her fate was sealed, the steam pump being insufficient to cope with the increasing volume of water. However the men kept at work hoping to keep the vessel afloat and with the help of the tug Arctic, which was near by, save the valuable propeller, but it was of no avail. Gradually the body of the vessel disappeared between the huge icebergs, almost equal to those in the polar regions, crushing and grinding until at last the crew were compelled to save themselves and abandon the vessel. The life boat was swung over the side and half a dozen half frozen individuals rapidly pulled it some distance from the sinking propeller, while the rest prepared to follow. Captain Prindiville was the last to leave the boat. They got about a quarter of a mile from the propeller when her topmasts disappeared in about 400 feet of water.

SHELTER SAFELY REACHED

The trip to the tug Arctic, which lay about four miles off, was attended with considerable suffering from cold and danger from getting under ice which was moving continuously, piling up under their feet. However with the exception of slightly frozen [illegible] and fingers they [illegible] at night where they [illegible]

Had it not been for the close proximity of the Arctic no one of the crew would have reached shore alive. All would have perished from cold on the ice during the night, and no one would have been left to tell the tale of the Michigan's fate.

Nothing of the crew's personal property was saved and all went down with the propeller. The crew consisted of Captain Prindiville, Mate James McMann, Engineer Philip Roth, and ten men.

Early this morning they left the Arctic firmly packed in the ice, with no prospects of getting free and arrived at Holland this afternoon and here it is [illegible] With the exception of being badly worn out from the hard journey of fifteen miles over the ice [illegible] the entire crew look well.

The Michigan was built at Wyandotte, Michigan, in 1881 for the Goodrich Transportation Company of Milwaukee at a cost of $150,000. Nothing is known of the Wisconsin's whereabouts, and since the above disaster has become known grave fears for her safety are entertained. The Michigan was loaded with a small cargo, but both the vessel and freight are believed to be fully insured.

THE NORTHWEST UPRISING

The Situation Becomes very Serious—Troops Hurrying to the Scene

WINNIPEG, March 23.—Artillery, mounted police and volunteers are being hurried forward to Prince Albert and Carlton, to suppress the Saskatchewan half breed and Indian uprising. The situation there is still critical and serious trouble is imminent. News from the scene of the disturbance is meagre to-day.

THE WIRE STILL CUT

WINNIPEG, March 23.—The telegraph wire near the scene of the riots and rebellion is still cut and no dispatches can be received from any points in that vicinity. Colonel Irvine, with a force of mounted police from Regina, should reach the crossing of the south Saskatchewan to-night. The rebels are understood to be at that point to prevent Irvine's force crossing the river and joining the force stationed at Fort Carleton. The half breeds number 500 and are armed with Remington and Winchester rifles. They are trying to stir up a general rising among the Indians all over the Saskatchewan district. The nineteenth battalion of the Winnipeg rifles has been ordered to be ready to start for the scene of trouble, and will probably leave Wednesday morning.

FROM OTTAWA

OTTAWA, March 23.—It is well known that the disturbance in the Northwest territory is much more serious than Sir John MacDonald is willing to acknowledge in parliament. The minister of militia was closeted all day with General Middleton and Sir David MacPherson. The minister of the interior has information that there are 600 half breeds under arms. Latest advices from Prince Albert and Carleton show that the rising is a most serious affair.

Lieutenant-Governor Dewdney, at present in Winnipeg, has been in constant communication with the authorities here relative to the disturbances. A detachment of mounted police, with field guns, will go to the scene of the disturbance.

It is admitted that the location for Riel could not be better to accomplish his object. Big Bear is near the spot and stoutly refuses to take to his reserve, and would doubtless be willing to follow with the tribe of Louis Riel. French half breeds are also in close proximity, and the place in every way if Riel could get hold of it would be an advantageous one to him. The mounted police department is in close communication with officials at Prince Albert and full details are expected.

A rumor that Fort Carleton has been captured by Riel is denied. Notice was given in the commons of an inquiry whether Riel had been in the employ of the government at any time in any capacity in the past two years.

RAILROAD NOTES.

THE CENTRAL PACIFIC'S NEW BOND ISSUE.

NEW YORK, March 23.—The following statement was given out from the Central Pacific this afternoon: The Central Pacific Company has issued a $10,000,000 convertible loan for the purpose of funding into a long bond the greater part of its accumulated floating debt and to provide for completion of the Oregon division and other additions to the property. The company has expended on construction and betterments during the past five years nearly $10,000,000 not included in the operating expenses and against which no stock or bonds have been issued, and during the past ten years more than $14,000,000. During the same period the net funded debt has decreased by land sales and sinking fund nearly $8,000,000. The new bonds bear 6 per cent interest and run thirty years. Already $5,000,000 has been taken at par by holders of the unfunded debt. Provision is made in the bonds allowing conversion of the principal sum into capital stock within eight years, but no exchange will be made at less than 50 per share.

THE DENVER MEETING

DENVER, March 23.—At to-day's session of the Transcontinental railway association it was decided to defer the election of a commissioner, and L. G. Cannon, acting commissioner, was elected general agent and auditor of the pool. The old contract was amended in a few unimportant particulars, and was then signed by representatives of all roads forming the pool. The meeting adjourned to meet at Chicago some time in August. The meeting was entirely harmonious and in an eminent degree successful. Many long standing differences were amicably adjusted and there seems to be a fixed determination upon the part of all present strictly to maintain rates in the future.

NEW JERSEY CENTRAL MEETING

NEW YORK, March 23.—The board of directors of the New Jersey Central met to-day. The question of payment of April interest was referred to Dallas of Pennsylvania, and pending a decision the president was directed to take such steps as would result in freedom from the Reading control. The Reading had leased the road for 999 years and guaranteed 6 per cent interest, but had defaulted December interest.

ALBANY NOTES

ALBANY, March 21.

Only six arrests by the police since January 1.

Mr S. W. Ross will soon commence the erection of two dwelling houses.

By a recent order of the city council Front street is being leveled and graded.

Prosecuting Attorney Chamberlain has gone to Yamhill county to attend court.

Rev. F. M. Culp, recently from Ohio, has accepted the pastorate of the M. E. church South in this city.

Marshal Burkhart as street commissioner is making many needed repairs to side and cross walks about town.

Abe Hackleman, who has been in the city several weeks on business, has returned to his stock ranch in eastern Oregon.

J. A. Crawford, proprietor of the water works, is putting a new flume in the ditch to extend from the mill to Eighth street.

Dr. and Mrs. Foley, sister of Mrs. C. Marshall of this city, will start east to-morrow for a pleasure trip of several months.

Judge Blackburn has recently received a complete set of Minnesota reports, which are quite an acquisition to his library.

T. P. Hackleman has sold his residence near town and will soon remove to Michigan, where he will practice his profession.

A man named Leroy, who has been working near Scio, was adjudged insane and taken to the asylum last Thursday by Sheriff Charlton.

J. H. Townsend, district deputy grand councillor I. O. C. F., has organized a lodge of the order at Brownsville with twenty charter members.

J. Conn, contractor for the new school building, has let the contract for building the foundation to J. S. Clark and the plastering to John Berry.

A buggy horse belonging to Mrs. Tate became mired in the Calapooia bottom and so nearly perished that it had to be killed to end its misery.

The new steam launch arrived from Portland yesterday and is now moored near Cherry & Parker's foundry, where the cabin will be built and otherwise completed.

Mrs. Dr. Owens Adair of your city lectured at Crawford's opera house last Friday evening to a fair audience. The lecture was quite well spoken of by all who heard it.

Marx Baumgart returned home last Wednesday from San Francisco, where he has been a number of weeks undergoing treatment for his hearing, which is much improved.

Commencing Tuesday evening at Crawford's opera house, the Albany Dramatic Company will present the drama "Flower of the Family" for the benefit of the brass band.

The Albany Building Association has filed articles of incorporation with a capital of $10,000. Work upon the new opera house will commence as soon as a location is selected.

Yesterday at 11 o'clock at the Skeels school house Rev. M. Judy preached the funeral sermon of Frank Skeels, the young man who was frozen to death near town last winter.

Last week Mr. Gourley went out to his farm near town and found two valuable calves dead. They were lying about fifty yards apart and death is supposed to have been caused by eating some poisonous weed growing on the river bottom.

Quite a number of new provisions are noticeable in the new charter, among which are that the mayor will be elected for two years and will have the power to veto. He will also act as recorder in the recorder's court in the absence of that official. It also provides that when any city official is elected and fails to qualify the council shall have power to elect and fill the vacancy.

A gentleman representing $400,000 of capital was in the city last week and remained several days. He also visited other portions of the state, but praised this above all for its beautiful location, splendid water power and most excellent advantages for manufacturing purposes. He went back home but will return to Oregon this summer and invest his money at some point in the state.

Every indication now points to the fact that Albany will the coming summer enjoy the first business boom for a number of years. Men of means are locating in the city who will start new manufacturing enterprises, and the capitalists who have so long lain dormant will invest their money in erecting business blocks and public buildings. Two families of immigrants have been stopping at the hotel for a number of days unable to find a suitable empty house into which to move.

FOREIGN DISPATCHES

A Great Battle Expected near Suakem To-day.

PARTICULARS OF SUNDAY'S FIGHT.

The Russians Concentrating Toward Herat—A Conspiracy Discovered in Spain—An American Girl Hissed

SUAKEM, March 23.—The Guards at an early hour this morning were sent to the zareba erected yesterday by General McNeill to render assistance. After the battle yesterday General McNeill was unmolested. He was found well entrenched in the zareba, situated seven miles southwest of Suakem. The Guards were sent back by McNeill for water and provisions. They succeeded in making the return journey unmolested. A force of infantry and cavalry with supplies for the zareba, escorted by a convoy of Guards, was at once dispatched to Gen. McNeill. A number of heavy guns have been forwarded to the front.

The total British loss during the fight Sunday was 5 officers and 51 privates killed and 170 wounded. The rebel loss is fully 1500. In the rush a large number of rebels entered the zareba and in the desperate fight which ensued there every Arab was killed.

LONDON, March 23.—A Suakem special to the Telegraph states that the rebels confess that 3000 men were killed in Sunday's battle.

A GREAT BATTLE EXPECTED TO-DAY

A general advance toward Tamai will be made to-night by Graham. During the advance Suakem will be garrisoned by soldiers. The zareba constructed by General McNeill will be shifted, because of the intolerable effects of the rapid decomposition of hundreds of bodies of slain Arabs lying close around. A spy reports that the hostile Arabs are growing in numbers around Hasheen.

The heat is oppressive. Two hundred sick and wounded to-day sail for England.

Later official accounts place the losses of the Arabs in yesterday's fight at 1000 all told. If this figure is correct the losses of the enemy exceeded those of the British less than in any battle of the past three years.

Osman Digma has 25,000 men at Tamai. General Graham will reach Tamai and give Osman Digma battle to-morrow. It will be a pitched fight, and probably more decisive than any that has yet occurred.

Owing to the labor involved it was decided not to shift General McNeill's zareba. Troops are engaged in dragging the bodies of the slain to leeward of the zareba. Dense heaps of corpses of rebels and native camp followers are mingled with the carcasses of 500 camels. The ground is strewn with rifles, spears and shields.

GENERAL GRAHAM ADVANCES.

Troops under General McNeill left the zareba where the battle was fought yesterday and advanced about a mile toward Tamai, where they constructed another zareba, the enemy making no opposition. It was found impossible to encamp near the battlefield, owing to the decomposition of the enemy's dead, and the carcasses of camels and horses. At daybreak to-morrow General Graham will resume the advance.

A DISPATCH FROM GRAHAM

LONDON, March 23.—General Graham telegraphs from the advanced zareba that the British position there is strong and secure against any number of the enemy. He regrets the serious British losses of yesterday's fight, but exonerates General McNeill from blame, believing he did the best that could be done under the circumstances. General Graham praises the gallantry of all the troops. He says the cavalry would have given the alarm had not the rugged nature of the ground prevented their seeing more than a short distance. Though the rebels met with a temporary success they received a severe lesson. The corpses of over 1000 Arabs were counted on the field of battle yesterday, including the bodies of many noted chiefs.

The British killed in the engagement Sunday was seven officers and sixty three men. Many bodies of boys and women were found on the battlefield after the fight. One hundred and ten Arabs were killed inside the zareba. After the first repulse of the enemy the chiefs tried but were unable to rally the Arabs to a second onslaught. All the Arabs in the fight yesterday wore El Mahdi's uniform. One banner captured from the rebels was a gift from El Mahdi. Two-thirds of the camels are dead. General Graham sent the Indian troops back to Suakem.

WILL EVACUATE KORTI

KORTI, March 23.—General Wolseley has ordered the evacuation of Korti. Cases of typhoid fever, dysentery and sunstroke are increasing among the troops. The heat is intense. The troops will proceed to entrenched lines at Deibeh and Dongola.

KORTI, March 23.—General Wolseley has started for Dongola.

FROM THE FRONT.

LONDON, March 23.—A dispatch from Gulran, dated March 17, says outwardly all is quiet, but it is reported the Russians are concentrating toward Herat. It is proposed to withdraw Coleridge away from Penjdeh, and leave Captain Yale there. Measures are being taken for the defense of Herat.

GENERAL GORDON'S DEATH

KORTI, March 23.—A native reports that in a sortie before the fall of Khartoum General Gordon lost 200 men; that General Gordon was really killed by a shot from a gun, and his body pierced with spears after he was dead.

THE ANGLO-RUSSIAN DISPUTE.

IN PARLIAMENT

LONDON, March 23.—The under foreign secretary in the commons said the Anglo-Russian agreement in regard to the Russo-Afghan frontier was not recorded in a formal document. Wolff then asked: "Does the question of peace or war depend upon the verbal assurance of Russia?" This the under foreign secretary did not reply to, whereupon the conservatives cheered ironically.

Granville, in the lords, said it was desirable that the government while firmly adhering to the policy which England's obligations required, should not omit any chance of arriving at a friendly agreement with Russia.

ALARM RENEWED.

LONDON, March 23.—The alarm over the prospect of war with Russia was renewed on the stock exchange owing to the reported preparation of India to send troops to Herat. Russian stocks dropped 1¾. At Berlin there are still buyers. Some English houses also buy, believing the display in India only bluster, designed to conciliate the war section of the liberal party.

DUFFERIN TO CONFER WITH THE AMEER.

CALCUTTA, March 23.—Earl Dufferin, Indian viceroy, has departed for Rawalpindi to attend a conference with the ameer of Afghanistan concerning the frontier dispute with Russia.

SPAIN.

A CONSPIRACY DISCOVERED

MADRID, March 23.—Colonel Bernejo, commander of a cavalry regiment at Badajos, has been arrested on a charge of conspiracy to restore the republic of Spain. A corporal and two policemen have been convicted of a similar charge in Pamplona, province of Navarre. The trial revealed the existence of a powerful and energetic organization, devoted to accomplishing revolution against the monarch in Spain. Troops have been sent in large numbers to Gerona, where a republican coup is feared.

FRANCE.

MISS VAN ZANDT AGAIN HISSED

PARIS, March 23.—Miss Van Zandt was again hissed this evening by an organized clique in the galleries of the Opera Comique. Toward the end of the performance the hostile demonstration increased and culminated in a prolonged howl.

GERMANY.

THE PRINCE AND PRINCESS OF WALES.

BERLIN, March 23.—The prince and princess of Wales have gone to Darmstadt to attend the funeral of Princess Elizabeth, mother of the grand duke Hesse, son in law of Queen Victoria.

BELGIUM.

KING LEOPOLD WANTS A LOAN

BRUSSELS, March 23.—Bleichroder, the Berlin banker, had an interview with King Leopold to-day on the subject of a loan of 30,000,000 to the Congo state.

The Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 24, 1885

WAR ON THE ADMINISTRATION.

"Oh, for a month, or even for a week, of Hendricks!" is the wail that gurgles from the deeps of the democratic breast. Sinister and frightful are the results of the day that made Hendricks the "tail of the ticket." Democrats who went to Washington to get "the fruits of the victory" are compelled to leave for home without them. The president, whom they had labored so hard to elect, was inaccessible. Having attained the topmost round of the ladder, he "looks into the clouds scorning the base degrees by which he did ascend." But they found the vice president ready to sympathize with them and to tell them again about that great "surplus" in the treasury which he promised last fall should be their inheritance. But alas! Hendricks hasn't the keys of the treasury, nor has he power to make out appointments and sign commissions. The journey of the pilgrims to Washington has been an expensive one. Lured with the burning scent of place and spoil, they have remained as long as they possibly could, till depletion of their pockets and the inexorable rule of advance payments at the hotels and boarding houses have admonished them that they could not stand longer upon the order of their going, but must go at once. So for many days past they have been packing their grip-sacks and starting in all directions for home,—but not without first calling to take an affectionate leave of the vice president who, in an age of degenerate democracy—a democracy that doesn't differ perceptibly from republicanism—still keeps the old faith and still asserts that to the victors belong the spoils.

Special dispatches from Washington, to democratic as well as to republican journals, say that the vice president is getting himself talked about a great deal by his incessant activity in behalf of office-seeking delegations. Immediately after the inauguration his face became familiar about the departments, through which he was bustling with petitions in his hands and bundles of papers protruding from his pockets. But finding at last that he was not regarded as a "victor," and that there were no "spoils" for him, he is reported to have withdrawn, and now is sulking and meditating revenge. What he and his injured fellow democrats contemplate is said to be nothing less than a purpose to organize the party for a war upon the administration. Upon the recent visit of Hendricks and Voorhees to Cleveland they virtually threatened that if he did not begin at once to "give the party the fruits of the victory," they would combine the democracy of Indiana against him, and appeal to the country in behalf of that kind of civil service reform which the expectant democrats had in view when they went in troops and multitudes to Washington, to be present at the inauguration of a democratic president.

Satisfied that the vice-president intends to organize the embittered office-seekers and spoilsmen for a war upon him, the president has called ex-Senator McDonald from Indiana to Washington for consultation. McDonald hates Voorhees and despises Hendricks, for he believes that they, while pretending to be his friends, humiliated him at Chicago, and he is willing to give his help to beat them. McDonald is about as popular at home as Hendricks, and only through the former's taking control of the state canvass was it carried in November. There is a feeling among the Hoosiers that he has been abused, and there is a disposition to champion him against Hendricks. This makes his opposition serious. If Cleveland and McDonald set out to antagonize Voorhees and Hendricks in Indiana, it will be but the prelude of the contest fast coming on between the administration and the "mossbacks" everywhere, only in Indiana it will be intensified by reason of the fact that the vice-president is to be the special leader of the anti-administration wing. If the president can take the management of the party in Indiana out of the hands of Hendricks and Voorhees, he evidently believes he will not have much trouble anywhere else, but if he cannot great difficulties may await him.

The present course of the vice president is exactly in accord with that pursued by him both before and after the election. Before the election he talked right along as if he regarded himself as the leading man, he outlined and defined the policy of his party on all the leading questions, upon which he spoke with all the looseness and confidence of an oracle, while the "head of the ticket" remained silent. After the election he made speeches in which he declared that the kind of civil service reform which his party required was the speedy removal of all republicans and the appointment of democrats. He now learns that, as a rule, democrats are to be appointed only as the terms of republicans expire, and his impetuosity cannot brook the delay. Therefore as vice president, heir apparent and possible successor to the chief seat, he organizes an opposition that may become very formidable. It is growing plainer and plainer every day that Cleveland and Hendricks represent opposing forces in the democratic party. The president is trying to bring his party up to the progressive tendencies of the last quarter of a century. The vice president would like to restore all the conditions of democratic rule that existed before the republicans rescued the government and the country from the blight and curse of Bourbonism.

Taine, in his description of the transition from the classic to the modern age of English literature, informs us that "when Roland, being made a minister, presented himself before Louis Sixteenth in a simple dress coat and shoes without buckles, the master of ceremonies raised his hands to heaven, thinking all was lost. In fact, all was changed." Hendricks thinks his party resumes the government at the point where they dropped it, or were kicked out of it, a quarter of a century ago and he is of those who, not knowing that all is changed, think their party has no mission if not to do now just as it used to do in the olden time.

THE EGYPTIAN SITUATION.

The situation of the British troops under General Wolseley is perhaps less favorable than those under General Graham, as the latter can get out of the country easier than their brethren on the upper Nile, but it must be painfully apparent to the home government that should General Graham reach a point inland more than four days' travel from the sea he would be in as serious a situation as Wolseley. It is daily becoming more noticeable that the British have undertaken a job they cannot execute. Since the stubborn battle of Abu Klea and the gallant charge to death of General Earle at Birti, the news from General Wolseley's expedition has been solely of retreat amid constant attacks of Arabs and disease, and the season has now reached a point where the deadly effects of an implacable climate will reap its harvest from those the Arab spear and bullet has spared. General Wolseley and staff leave Korti to-day, according to our dispatches, and retire to Dongola. This can mean little else than the abandonment of the expedition which has cost England so dearly in lives and money. The expected revenge for the slaughter of Gordon will never be taken, and Khartoum will remain in the power of the Arabs until peace is made other than at the point of the British bayonet.

Recent reports from Egypt, both by telegraph and letter, are to the effect that the entire region from Abyssinia to the Mediterranean is honeycombed with conspiracy, and that El Mahdi is to-day a greater power in Lower Egypt than khedive or British. The recent arrest of Zebehr Pasha for traitorous conduct only shows what may be expected of those who have opportunities to aid in an uprising. It is probably this knowledge coupled with the fear that communications with his base of supplies may be cut off that leads General Wolseley to change his plan of operations from aggressive measures to such as will insure the safety of his troops in case of a general revolution. This belief is made stronger by the tone of late dispatches from that region. The fact that the objects of the present expedition cannot be attained with the force on hand has become plain, and how to extricate that force with as little loss as possible is a problem the solution of which leaves the commander no time to expend in aggressive movements. As soon as the troops have concentrated at Korti, the route northward will be taken, unless, in the meantime, there should be received instructions from the home government to fix permanent camp at Dongola, or some strategic point on the Nile.

While General Wolseley is engaged in retreat on the Nile, General Graham is endeavoring to push his way a few miles out of Suakem. Twice last week he attempted the feat and twice was driven back, or "retired," as the dispatches state. Sunday the Arabs attacked the force left a few miles out of the city, destroyed large quantities of stores and stock and killed and wounded 250 of the British troops. Breaking into the hastily formed square they fought like tigers and only the superiority of bullet to spear kept them from their prey. Our dispatches this morning state that General Graham's entire force will move from Suakem to-day and a pitched battle will be fought near the scene of Friday's and Sunday's battles. Osman Digma is said to have 25,000 men with him, while General Graham's force cannot be more than 7000 or 8000. If it is, as expected, a pitched battle, it will be the bloodiest in the history of British wars since the Crimea, if it does not be decisive to one side or the other. And even should General Graham gain the battle of what avail would it be. The march to Berber is one that can only be made by small bodies of unmolested troops, or by the vast expenditure necessary to construct a railroad, of no use whatever after the expedition has reached the Nile (unless to ride back over) and liable to be destroyed at any and all times. A few weeks ago THE OREGONIAN published an article from the pen of Henry G. Prout, an engineer familiar with the route, and that gentleman's statements, together with those of General Stone, Colonel Colston, and other persons possessing knowledge of the subject, indicate the utter impossibility of a force like that of General Graham's ever reaching Berber without a railroad, should they attempt the feat. The few wells along the route can only accommodate from 600 to 1000 persons each, and the effort to send 5000 over the route seems ridiculous, to say nothing of the thousands of animals necessary to transport the munitions of war and food to last the army several weeks. It is unlikely, therefore, that the present movements of General Graham will differ materially from those of the same general in the same vicinity last year. A few battles will be fought in the vicinity of Suakem, a few hundred British soldiers will be sacrificed to the Moslem spear, and more to the ravages of disease, and when Moloch has been gratified the expedition will be recalled and England confine herself to what she should have been satisfied with two years ago, the occupation of Suakem and Massowah as strategic points on the Red sea.

THE MINISTER TO ENGLAND.

Hon Edward J. Phelps of Burlington, Vermont, our new minister to England, is a son of a former United States senator from Vermont. He graduated from Middlebury college, and in 1845 became a member of the Burlington bar. During President Fillmore's term he was for two or three years auditor of the treasury. He subsequently practiced his profession for a year or two in New York city. Returning to Vermont, and to his home in Burlington, he has devoted himself to the practice of his profession with an ability and success that have given him the conceded position of leader of the Vermont bar, and an enviable reputation beyond the borders of his own state. He has been listened to with great pleasure by the supreme court at Washington many times in the argument of important cases. He was the leading attorney for Park & Beekter in their Emma mine litigation, and succeeded in vindicating his clients. Since that famous litigation he has been engaged in many important cases in New York, where he has spent a large portion of his time. As an advocate he has few peers at the bar. He is a remarkably graceful and forcible speaker, and one of the most accomplished lawyers in this country. For the past five or six years he has been a lecturer in one of the law departments at Yale college, where he is very popular. He has delivered many addresses on different occasions and on a variety of subjects, which have been published, and, though he lays no claim to reputation in literature, he is a finished scholar and critic. He is highly polished in manner, dignified and aristocratic, but affable and courtly. He is fond of field sports, and well calculated by his tastes and various accomplishments to be one of the most popular representatives this country has ever had at the court of St James.

The only public office Mr. Phelps ever held in Vermont except justice of the peace, was that of delegate from Burlington to the state constitutional convention in 1870, of which body he was the leading member. He was elected to this non-partisan position by the unanimous vote of his townsmen, and if his views had been in sympathy with those of the predominant political party, there is no honor or political achievement in the gift of Vermont to which he might not have successfully aspired. He was originally a whig, as was his father before him, and when the whig party divided on the slavery issue into the "free soil" and silver grey sections, he allied himself in sympathy and action with the silver greys and from that faction drifted naturally into the democratic party. He has never taken much part in politics, though he accepted the democratic nomination for governor in 1880. He was a warm supporter of Tilden, and it was understood in Vermont that if Tilden had become president he would have received the appointment of minister to England. Probably no man of any distinction whatever could have been now sent to England, who is more out of sympathy with the Irish element which opposed Cleveland and supported Blaine than Mr. Phelps. So far as his appointment has significance it shows that the foreign policy of the present administration will be conservative. Mr. Phelps is far more objectionable to the aggressive Irish element than Mr. Lowell, both in style and opinion.

The actors who have been compelled against their will to take part in Sunday night performances, in the large cities and the smaller towns throughout the west, have begun to protest. A league has been formed with a membership already of over 2000 actors, designed to make an earnest and effective protest against Sunday performances. Whatever individual feeling in the places where the practice flourishes may be, there is no doubt that these actors will be sustained in their attempt by the sentiment of the best people everywhere. The custom is not only an infringement upon the seventh day of rest due every laborer, but it is also a contradiction of the principle that "Sunday is no day for the practice of one's profession."

George W. Julian of Indiana, who went over to the democrats some years ago because the republicans of that state refused to keep him in office more than twenty years at a stretch, is now at Washington demanding an office at the hands of President Cleveland. The old-time democrats call him "Julian the Apostate," and oppose his official aspirations. Julian will get no office above the grade of a third-rate consulate.

Our democratic brethren of Oregon who were carried away by the cry of "On to Washington" are coming home in a body. They found that the man who gets up before sunrise and goes to work in his shirt sleeves, never heard of the great state of Oregon. It does seem hard on the brethren, after they have worked twenty-four years for a president, to get a president who don't know them.

The democratic children of Israel appear to have caught merely a glimpse of the promised land, while the Cleveland Moses with a few able companions has gone forward to possess it. The scriptural order of things, wherein Moses was permitted only to view the land while his followers occupied it, seems in these later and degenerate days to have been quite reversed.

It is said that a new daily paper is to be started in Washington to be edited by Carl Schurz. George Gould will put $100,000 into the undertaking. If this is true it would appear that Hon. Carl, having got through his job as a tool of Henry Villard, will now reform by becoming a tool of Jay Gould.

The hostility of the McLeans and the Cincinnati Enquirer to George H. Pendleton had a characteristic motive worthy of its vicious virulence. It was because Mr Pendleton refused to indorse General Hazen's application for chief of the signal service. General Hazen is brother-in-law of Mr McLean. Mr Pendleton considered him incompetent and incapable of filling the office, and refused to recommend him even to gratify a powerful party friend and supporter.

"General Grant's sons have had the misfortune to be the sons of a distinguished father," says a friend of the family interviewed in a New York paper. To most people it appears that General Grant has had the misfortune to be the father of some very foolish sons. It must have seemed that way to the old man himself when he first found out that through their inattention to their own business or their incapacity, they had allowed their wicked partner to get away with their father's fortune, and almost to steal his good name.

A democratic newspaper declares that the only way to end this scramble for office is to turn all the republicans out at once and put democrats in their places. This organ is evidently correct in saying that as long as a republican is permitted to stay in office there will be a horde of ravenous democrats clamoring for his removal, and each demanding to be appointed as his successor.

An excursion party will leave Boston April 13, for a tour of seventy-three days through the Pacific states and territories. The party will come through California, and will return over the Oregon Short Line. It will consist of one hundred or more persons.

Edmund Gosse gives his impressions of America to the Pall Mall Gazette, and pays our people the compliment of superior average intelligence and greater familiarity with literature of all descriptions.

Even poor Slater gets no "assurances." Will he be coming home, too, or will he hold on a little longer in the hope of getting a clerkship at Washington?

THE STAGE.

"LYDIA'S DREAM."—Last evening witnessed the first production of Professor J. M. Navoni's opera of "Lydia or Lydia's Dream," at the New Market theater, and judging from the favorable manner in which its various numbers were received, it can be said to have pleased the good sized audience present. While there is little of originality about the music it is generally of a pleasing character, and the arrangement of the various parts is so in itself as to call for commendation. A synopsis of the leading incidents was given in yesterday's OREGONIAN. One thing must be said and that is that the libretto is bad. The singing, and that is that the music was generally good, particularly the rendering of the duet in the first act between Lydia (Miss Manulet) and Marie (Miss Kruell) and the trio in the second act between Lydia, Marie and Henry (Leon Dammarell). Our readers are familiar with the vocal abilities of Miss Manulet and Mr Dammarell. Miss Kruell is the possessor of a rich mezzo-soprano voice, which showed to most excellent advantage in the concerted music, as well as in her solos. Mr. Castlebeen as the baron sang the part fairly well, but he was evidently somewhat nervous and uncertain in his lines. He has a baritone voice which would show to much better advantage if he would sing with more confidence. Mr Lindhard as Hancock, Mr Neal as Swerbel, and Miss May Churchman as Bettina as Beppel, and Miss May Churchman also did well. The chorus was large and well drilled and sang the music with spirit. In scenery and costuming there was nothing left to be desired, the transformation scenes in the second act being particularly fine. An amusing feature of the performance was the introduction of an animal which evoked much applause. "Lydia's Dream" will be given throughout the week.

Notwithstanding the counter attractions, the Third had its usual goodly number to see the "Hermit of the Siskiyou." It will be repeated again to-night.

The Casino began its second week of the "Queen's Handkerchief" to a good house. The careful costuming and the splendid ensemble are all much talked of.

RECEPTION AT Y. M. C. A.—A social reception to the members of the educational classes was given in the parlors of the association last evening. The rooms were tastefully decorated with flowers and plants and presented a gala appearance. Strains of music from the Y. M. C. A. orchestra drew the ladies and gentlemen from the parlors to the hall, which was finely decorated with plants and cut flowers. The president, Mr. G. W. Staver, in brief but well chosen words introduced as chairman Hon. H. W. Corbett, who reviewed the work of the educational classes and encouraged the members present to persevere, congratulating the association upon the advance made and success attained. Mr Defren, new member of the orchestra, rendered a very fine solo on the clarionet, of which instrument he is master. Mrs. J. H. Irwin then favored the audience with a solo rendered in excellent voice and with marked ability. Professor R. K. Warren was then introduced and made an address replete with witty remarks and full of practical suggestions to the large number of young men present. After another selection by the orchestra, given in excellent style, Mrs Irwin sang charmingly "Good-bye." Light refreshments were then served and enjoyed by all present, after which the happy company wended its way home.

REGISTRY LAW VALID.—Hon. Joseph Simon, speaking of the error which has been found in the enrolled copy of the registry law, that an election shall be held in 1885 instead of 1886, as it should have been, said yesterday: "The error is immaterial. The first section of the act as passed provides for a general election in June, 1886, and biennially thereafter. That section could have been omitted altogether. It has no direct connection with the sections referring to registration which follow. The bill was introduced with the first section providing for a general election in June, 1886. It was so printed, so referred to the judiciary committee, so engrossed, so reported back and so passed the house. In the same form it went to the senate, was there referred to the judiciary committee, so reported back and so passed. The original bill is still on file and shows that as it passed both houses the section read '1886,' though the enrolled copy, through a clerical error, reads '1885.' The intent of the section is clear. In any event the error can affect only the first section. Besides, a general election can not be held in odd years. The constitution of the state provides that a general election shall be held in June, 1858, and biennially thereafter, and it is not within the power of the legislature to amend this provision."

DIVORCE CASES.—Cordelia Flowers has obtained a decree of divorce from her husband, Allen Flowers, and now it is desired to so modify this decree as to permit each of the parents to enjoy the society of their children. A motion to this effect has been set for hearing before Judge Stearns on Tuesday March 31st. The case of Ida J. Chew vs John P. Chew, recently begun, was yesterday referred to N. D. Simon to take testimony and report facts and conclusions of law, the defendant was also declared in default, he having paid no attention whatever to the complaints of his spouse concerning their marital infelicity. Sheriff Jordan has been unable to serve upon the defendant the usual papers in the case of Isabelle Smith against Preston Smith and Judge Stearns has issued an order permitting the service of the summons to be made by publication. In the long drawn out suit of Wally Cline against her husband Jacob, it has been ordered that the referee shall allow him fifteen days to offer evidence in rebuttal. If he is not able in that length of time to deny everything that his wife has said, undoubtedly the court will take pity upon him and grant him a few days more upon being properly petitioned.

THEY WERE ALL "TWENTIES."—R. L. Durham, cashier of the Portland Savings bank, was "cleaning house" as it were, yesterday, and had all the loose change of the institution piled out in trays and things, and a very pretty sight it was to a reporter who happened in. In one corner of the vault was a sack supposed to contain $20,000 in gold $20 pieces, which had been laying there undisturbed for three years. It had always been counted in figuring up the cash in hand but no one had looked into it. The reporter eyed the sack suspiciously and remarked that it was probably stuffed with washers. The cashier turned pale as the possibility dawned upon him, and seizing a knife, he said "We'll just see what is in it, anyhow," and cutting the string, dumped out the contents, which proved to be bright twenties, just 1000 in number. But just why they have been lying idle in that vault for three years when any reporter in town would have given a note at 10 per cent. a month for them it is difficult to conceive.

JUSTLY PUNISHED.—Eustace G. V. Brown is the name of a young man who was caught by a policeman some months since running like a scared coyote round the streets late at night, while the popping of a pistol put life and mettle in his heels. Yesterday he cheekily forced his company upon a gentleman by using an assumed name, and received such a castigation as so contemptible a cur deserved. Indeed, when he was carried to the doctor's office, near by, one who had not seen the punishment could not tell whether Brown's head had been fondled with a threshing machine cylinder, or beaten for half an hour with clubs. Yet the fist of an irate man did it all. Brown was one of the crew of the British bark Ferngien, wrecked on the bar some three years since, and, from the manner in which he has conducted himself here, it is evident that if he had gone down with the vessel the loss would not have been any greater. He had better return to India and join the Soudan contingent, by which course he may at least die honorably, a style of taking off which is not likely to happen to him if he tarries here.

O AND C R R AFFAIRS.—Yesterday, before Judge Deady in the U. S. circuit court, the matter of the petition of the receiver of the Oregon and California railroad to be allowed to borrow money sufficient to pay for the rails and other material now on the way here in the ship Tillie E. Starbuck, came up for hearing upon the objections of the Transcontinental company, and other creditors of the first named road, to making such a loan a lien upon the property prior to the first mortgage bonds. The case was argued at considerable length and submitted to the judge, who will probably render his decision to-morrow morning. In chambers in the afternoon Judge Deady granted the request of Mr. H. Hoehneuser, a German bondholder who has not yet cut off his coupons, and who desires to become a party to the suit of Lawrence Harrison and others against the O. & C. R. R. Mr. Hoehneuser may be pleased now with the idea of getting into an American lawsuit, but it is safe to say he will not be before it is done.

ALL RAILROAD TROUBLES SETTLED.—A private dispatch received here yesterday from Denver states that all matters before the transcontinental association were amicably settled. The regular tariff will be maintained, all the opposing companies have sworn fealty to it and to each other, and there is to be no more rebates, drawbacks, cuts or reductions. Notice was immediately given to connecting lines that all cutting "snaps are off." The trouble, which threatened at one time general demoralization of rates, was occasioned by the Sunset route, viz the Southern Pacific from San Francisco to New Orleans and the Morgan line of steamships from New Orleans to New York. It cut rates so deeply that in January it carried seventy per cent of the through freight between New York and Southern Pacific coast points. All lines north of it, except the O. R. & N., the Oregon Short Line and the Northern Pacific, were consequently injured and all were ready to seek revenge unless rates were restored.

WHAT SHOULD HE DO WITH HER?—William Nelson was arraigned in the police court yesterday on a charge of beating his wife. The woman did not appear, and could not be found. The court decided to take the evidence of witnesses who were present and continue the case. From the testimony it appears that Mrs. Nelson was wild, howling drunk, and that her husband was endeavoring to calm and quiet her when in her cavortings a lamp was upset and the house set on fire. Mr. Nelson, between his efforts to put out the fire and quiet the woman, was obliged to act with promptness and energy and he, it seems, gave her a push or a slap, or perhaps both, and she made a charge of assault against him. Just what the proper thing to do on such an occasion, but few men have sufficient information on which to found an opinion, but it may be set down as a general rule that a drunken woman cannot be soothed or quieted by pouring cologne on her head or molasses down her back.

NO GAS LAMPS.—Thomas Vaswig, who was given the contract for changing the street lamps from gas to oil lamps, commenced operations yesterday. There are 211 lamps to change, which will take some little time. The gas company gave up the business of lighting the streets yesterday, and as the electric lights will not be in place till after the 1st of April, our citizens are liable to be left where Moses was when the candle went out, for a few nights. However, as the moon is now nearing the full, but little inconvenience will be experienced. This is not the first time that the city has adopted oil in the place of gas. About twenty years ago the council passed an ordinance substituting oil for gas, and the lamps were all put in a warehouse. But as the gas company had a contract they kept on lighting the burners all the same. In a few weeks the lamps were all broken and the city had to replace them with new ones.

TAMPERING WITH LETTER BOXES.—Not a day passes that the mail collectors do not report to the office some malicious mischief committed, principally by boys, upon the letter boxes in some sections of the city. The glass that covers the card upon the face of a box is taken as a target by boys with rubber slings and in consequence, these glasses are continually found broken. Besides, the boxes are frequently found to be filled up with sticks stones and broken glass, which latter is not only annoying but even dangerous to the collector who puts his hand inside. Each and every one of these offences is a crime punishable with imprisonment in the penitentiary. The mischief has grown to such great proportions that W. G. Steel, superintendent of carriers, declares he will prosecute to a conviction the first culprit that can be caught. He wishes people to keep a sharp lookout for such young rascals, and to make it an object he will pay $20 for the capture of any offender.

HE MADE A MISTAKE.—Chas W. Malaskey, a merchant of The Dalles, who was arrested and brought to this city recently upon a charge of violating the U. S. revenue laws, was yesterday released from custody, U. S. District Attorney Watson having upon investigation dismissed the case against him. Malaskey purchased an interest in a store, and made the mistake of thinking that by so doing he bought the government license granted to the other man to sell liquor. He knows now that such a license is not to be bought and sold like ordinary property, and accordingly took out a license at the internal revenue office in his own name, after which the charge was dismissed.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT.—"Brick" Dowling viewed the proceedings at the police court yesterday from a seat within the dock. He is charged with embezzling $6, the property of Multnomah county, which had been paid to him by Chinese as poll tax. At the request of James Campbell, his counsel, Dowling was given till to-day to plead. He will probably know by the time court meets this afternoon whether he is guilty or not, but it is not likely the court will find out without some trouble. This business of collecting poll tax from Chinese seems a trying one. But few get through it without being suspected of crookedness, and some of them get caught.

WORKING THE OLD DODGE.—Retail dealers will do well to keep a look out for fellows who are trying to play the change "racket." Two different fellows visited the same store on First street yesterday and tried this somewhat stale trick, but failed to make it win. The trick has often been explained and exposed, and should be so well understood by all dealers as to present any possibility of its being successfully tried. Still, periodically, some scallawag comes around and plays the "fake" with profit to himself. Every dealer should keep a stout club behind the counter, and when a customer begins monkeying with the change, why fan his favored brow with that club.

THE WITNESS FLED.—The cases of James Simpson and Percy King, who were charged with blackmail, were called in Justice Greene's court yesterday afternoon. On motion of the district attorney, preliminary examination was put off for one week. This motion was made on account of the absence of the principal witness, Miss Wood, who is supposed to have gone to Walla Walla. A bench warrant was issued for her arrest. King, by general consent, was allowed to leave the city, as his detention here would deprive him of a situation waiting for him in eastern Oregon.

HAD TO MAKE ROOM FOR OTHERS.—The policemen who were dismissed from the force at the last meeting of the council are trying to find out the reason why they were dismissed. They have small success in their quest. The true reason probably is that others wanted their places. It is said that several more heads have been chalked for the guillotine at the next meeting, and that an official connected with the street cleaning department has been told that a certain councilman is after his scalp, which this councilman intends to lift before the June rise.

ASCRIBED TO IGNORANCE.—A cheeky looking hobbledehoy sat in the lobby at the police court yesterday puffing at a vile cigar, when the judge told Capt. Gritzmacher to bring the fellow before him. "Were you never in a court before," asked his honor, "that you conduct yourself as if you were in a beer hall? I ought to fine you for contempt, but I shall be obliged for this time to attribute your offense to your ignorance." After a thorough dressing down the young man returned to his seat looking as meek as Moses.

SIMPLY ADDITIONAL DUTIES.—There has been some gossip about a statement that Hon. F. N. Shurtleff had been appointed light house inspector of this district. All there is to it is this. The collector of customs at Astoria exercises a sort of a nominal superintendency over all the light houses in Oregon, and the Cape Hancock and Shoalwater bay lights in Washington. These have, by a recent order from the treasury department, been transferred to the care of the collector's office at this port—some extra work and no extra pay.

NO NOTICE PUT UP.—In the police court yesterday, some ten of our citizens who have good horses and have a weakness for speeding them, were arraigned on charges of fast driving over Head street bridge. It having been demonstrated to District Attorney Tanner that the customary notice warning travelers of the penalty for fast driving had not been placed on the bridge, he moved to dismiss the charges, which was done. But that notice will be put up, and then parties who go spinning out of town must beware.

SUED BY A CHURCH.—In the case of the Scandinavian Evangelical Lutheran Church of this city against Edward Doering, Judge Deady yesterday denied the motion to require counsel for the plaintiff to show their authority to bring the suit. The property involved in this case is some real estate in East Portland, deeded many years ago to the defendant by the Rev. Mr. Fredrichsen, at that time pastor of the church. Claiming some illegality in this transaction the church society is now endeavoring to recover the property.

JUMPED A STREET.—City Surveyor Chapman has been subpenaed to attend court at Hillsboro as a witness in a case against David Purcer, who has been arrested for jumping streets in Steel's addition to the town of Beaverton. Mr Chapman surveyed and laid out this addition some time since and is therefore supposed to know all about it. Just why a man should wish to jump a street in a townsite where there is so much land to the square acre as there is in Washington county it is difficult to conceive.

STATE BOARD OF IMMIGRATION.—His Excellency Governor Moody has just made the following appointments as a state board of immigration commissioners: Hon. H. W. Corbett and Chas H. Dodd of Portland, Hon. L. B. Cox of Pendleton, W. N. Ladue of Salem, and Hon. H. B. Miller of Josephine county. They are authorized the expenditure of $5000 annually in disseminating abroad information concerning the resources of our state.

CONFESSED JUDGMENT.—C. O. Blakely, the contractor, yesterday confessed judgment to Alfred Pocock in the sum of $100 and to J. and J. A. Martin & Co. for $40. These people had brought suit and filed mechanics' liens upon a building which Blakely was building in East Portland. The consequence of his confession of judgment adds to his previous indebtedness the costs and disbursements of the actions begun.

CASES SET FOR TRIAL.—Yesterday Judge Stearns, in department No. 2 of the state circuit court, set the following cases for trial: Portland Lumbering and Manufacturing Company et al vs N. O. Anderson et al, for March 26, Nellie Cooper vs Matthew Brand, March 27, Currie S. Wood vs R. H. Thompson et al, March 30, W. B. Todd vs H. W. Riggs et al, April 1.

COURT OFFICERS APPOINTED.—Judge Stearns yesterday appointed the following officers to serve in department No. 2, of the state circuit court: Crier, William Barnes, bailiff, Charles Woods of East Portland. The efficient clerk of this court is Mr. W. H. Wood, who has for so long a time kept the records of the county court and board of commissioners.

TO SAIL EARLIER.—The steamship Columbia will sail for San Francisco Thursday night at 9 o'clock, instead of midnight. This change is made to enable her to reach Astoria and cross out at high tide, which occurs about 9 o'clock the next morning.

PERSONAL.

Rev. W. B. Styles and wife who have been missionarying in Alaska for the past four years are at the Merchant.

Mr. A. Roberts returned by the last steamer from an extended business trip to San Francisco. He is in excellent spirits and from close comparison has decided that Portland is still a very live business town.

Lieut. Geo. W. Stacy, U. S. N., arrived here yesterday and is registered at the Merchant. He will command the government expedition to Alaska and the [illegible] steamer which leaves San Francisco April [illegible] to be gone [illegible] years. [illegible] Stacy leaves for Olympia to-day to inspect two vessels [illegible] one of which he will take as a transport ship if [illegible]

JUSTICE.

Private investigation of the recent trouble between a Chinaman and certain pupils of the Bishop Scott Grammar School exonerates the lad Hawthorne from the charge of willful assault (or brutality), in accordance with the decision of the justice's court before which he was tried publicly. All evidence goes to show that he acted in self defense. COM.

THE YAKIMA COUNTRY

Its Situation and Area. The Townsite Contest Between the Old and New Towns Resolved.

THE YAKIMA, W. T., 19th of March.

[illegible] this country, as it is pointing to the north and [illegible] and you will have an [illegible] of the Yakima country. The body of the [illegible] will stand for the Ahtanum [illegible] the [illegible] will represent the Ahtanum [illegible] the Cowiche valley, the middle [illegible] the Natchez and the third and little [illegible] the Yakima and the Wenas valleys. High [illegible] ridges separate these valleys longitudinally [illegible] with the central Ahtanum [illegible]

THE AHTANUM

[illegible] plain of the same name, on [illegible] and extends east and west about twenty miles. It contains [illegible] twenty [illegible] sections [illegible] and [illegible] which the valley [illegible] the southern side of the valley [illegible] Its main [illegible] hills which bound the western [illegible] of the valley [illegible] its waters [illegible] in the eastern slopes of [illegible] Adams. The Ahtanum creek runs a full [illegible] during the months when irrigation [illegible] and its volume is amply sufficient to [illegible] in the valley. Already it has [illegible] a score of places and its waters [illegible] through the gardens and hop yards. The fall from the [illegible] of the valley to its east end [illegible] has never been accurately [illegible] but it is at least 500 feet and a system of ditches properly laid out would carry water to [illegible] the valley [illegible] slopes east and west. This valley with that part of its slopes [illegible] irrigation [illegible] sections of rich land and there is not a foot of it [illegible] for the plow.

THE NATCHEZ VALLEY

[illegible] settled district. It extends about [illegible] northeast and southwest and contains about ten sections of land through which water from the Natchez river can be turned at very light cost. The river is a rapid stream about equal in size and volume to the Clackamas. It enters the Yakima at the northern end of the Ahtanum plain and is I think rightly termed [illegible] There are about thirty families in the Natchez.

SMALLER VALLEYS

Cowecha is a small valley tributary to the Natchez. I have not visited it, but I am told that it contains six or eight sections of good land with excellent facilities for irrigation from the Cowecha creek.

The Yakima and Wenas valleys are narrow with the same quality of soil as their neighbors. Together they have about twelve sections of land.

Off to the southeast of the Ahtanum plain is a district called the Moxee valley but which is in fact no valley at all but a series of

ELEVATED BENCHES,

One rising above another. This section singularly is without a stream and it will never be possible to irrigate it except from artesian wells. Due perhaps to the fact that it has no drainage it is the best pasture in the whole region, the bunch grass which grows over the whole of it remaining green and luxuriant till late in the summer. The soil is exactly similar in appearance to the elevated lands near Walla Walla, for many years thought to be valueless, but of late years found to produce the best quality of wheat in abundant yield. I believe that the whole Moxee country, if deeply seeded in the fall would be equally productive, without irrigation. In this district there are [illegible] sections [illegible] acres.

EIGHTY THOUSAND ACRES

Of plow land and upon it there are less than two hundred and fifty families including both towns of Yakima City and North Yakima. This land belongs to the government and the Northern Pacific Railroad Company in about equal proportion, and is in the market to settlers at prices ranging from one to eight dollars per acre, the average price being about midway between these figures.

The Townsite Question.

The central point of this system of valleys and the one easily accessible to all is the Ahtanum plain. It is simply the eastern and broadened end of the Ahtanum valley into which the several other valleys open through gaps admitting their watercourses all of which here join the Yakima river. The plain is about six miles long north and south and three miles wide, east and west. The Yakima river runs along its eastern limits and passes out through a deep and narrow gap at its southern end. The early settlers looked upon this gap as the natural business focus of the country and established their trading station just inside it. This is the history of the settlement of Yakima city which is now an incorporated city of 600 people, doing an annual business of $300,000 and upwards. The railroad enters the Ahtanum plain through the gap and has of necessity to pass through Yakima city whose corporate limits stretch from one side of the narrow gate to the other.

It was expected by the people of course that their town would be made a station, but the company, after some negotiations for a depot site determined to pass on and make its stopping place four miles further up or midmost the exact center of the plain. The company

EXCUSED THIS COURSE

On the following grounds. That it would not be possible to build a depot with the number of side tracks necessary for the transaction of a considerable traffic on the low ground offered them; that location of the town near the gap through which the railroad and wagon roads are crowded side by side dangerously was extremely bad; that location at the lowest point in the [illegible] was bad in that the [illegible] was swampy; that the situation right in the teeth of the [illegible] town to the fullest force of the winds which [illegible] very severe over the whole country [illegible] through the gap as if [illegible] that the town was laid out irregularly with streets [illegible] with irrigation ditches which [illegible] unsafe [illegible] necessary for the [illegible] that from its [illegible] the town was subject to [illegible] and that it was extremely malarious [illegible] sanitary cleanliness having ever been [illegible] its site had become foul and unwholesome. These were the higher arguments and the [illegible] were that the direct [illegible] with the [illegible] and with the [illegible] interest and that the new location was four miles nearer the producing sections of the country. It was further declared that the improvements in the old town, with only a few exceptions [illegible] and that their removal to [illegible] cost a light [illegible] not even [illegible] abandonment would be but a small loss. The company offered to move the churches, school house and court house at its own charges, to assist in moving private buildings and to give to holders of improved lots in the old town an equal property in the new without charge.

THE OTHER SIDE.

The people of the old town or most of them feel that they have been outraged. They declare that the railroad company and its personal allies having failed in [illegible] effort to secure their town site for speculative purposes had conspired to ruin their [illegible] that the Northern Pacific [illegible] was built largely by government aid for the purpose of developing the country. They had gone, they declared, into the wilderness in advance of the railroad and established themselves in the hope and upon the promise of its coming, and now that it has come and arbitrarily passed them by they feel outraged. They point to their small property which though small is their all. They have built churches and schools, have surrounded their houses with comforts, have planted thousands of trees now grown to maturity, and they are not disposed after fifteen years of strife with new and hard conditions to begin the fight over again. Most that they value in their homes must be abandoned by removal and many cannot stand the expense. They admit some of the disadvantages of their situation but deny the sweeping allegations of the railroad company [illegible]. The only argument of which they consider worthy [illegible] is the proximity to the [illegible] valleys and this they think fully offset by their nearness to the Yakima reservation and so to the Indian trade. And, besides, they feel that their location is theirs on business and not that of the railroad company, whose duty is not to lead them into pleasant paths but to carry their products to market and to bring them goods.

There is, however, a general disposition to regard the whole matter as a mere question of business. If relief is to come through the courts it will be long delayed. They feel that in the end the railroad will win practically if not in court, and so many of them are abandoning their old homes and moving or preparing to move into the new town.

A PERSONAL VIEW

I am here to report the vital facts in this case and to tell the truth. It would be much pleasanter to be silent where it is not possible to approve. But I feel that it ought to be said, and said emphatically that the course of the Northern Pacific in this matter has been improper, unjust and [illegible] arbitrary. The new town has a hundred advantages of location over the old and if it had been started in legitimate rivalry with the old town, it would in a short time have succeeded to its business. The proposed depot location at the old town is not a good one, but it is downright presumption to [illegible] its disadvantages as insurmountable or even as [illegible] serious engineering problems. Trains ought to be halted in the old town as they pass through. It is not properly the affair of a railroad company to dictate where people shall live and do their business.

But whether or not the trains stop at the old town the new town of North Yakima will get the trade of the country. Of its location and future I shall write to-morrow. A. H.

THE WHITMAN CONTROVERSY.

SOUTHERN OREGON, March [illegible].

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

[illegible] not wishing to [illegible] with what tenacity and [illegible] the [illegible] regard [illegible] to [illegible] the assertion [illegible] Dr. Whitman [illegible] saved Oregon to the United States by [illegible] the emigration of 1843 [illegible] I traveled all summer with Whitman [illegible] 1843. He never to [illegible] claimed what these reverend gentlemen [illegible] for him. On the contrary he stated [illegible] that he went back in the interest of his missions and to [illegible] prevent if possible, their stations [illegible] discontinued which they were about to do and to induce [illegible] to furnish more [illegible] to enable them to hold their own against [illegible] Catholics who he said would monopolize everything unless something were done. The simple facts of the case are a repetition of the old war of creeds that has cursed the human race. The evidence adduced by those reverend gentlemen to [illegible] their claims is hearsay and would be [illegible] out of any court of justice. If they had [illegible] more law and less fiction, they would have known that before they [illegible] the [illegible] with [illegible] Washington [illegible] not [illegible] and the emigrants knew no [illegible] of them than the [illegible] of Dr. Whitman.

The Proceed and Succeed, two fishing smacks, collided off Lowestoft, England recently. The Proceed proceeded having succeeded in sinking the Succeed and taking on her sailors, who proceeded to the Proceed by means of the Succeed's small boat.

The second of the buildings on the site of the new Portland Savings bank started on its pilgrimage yesterday. A large crowd stood around waiting the adjusting of the [illegible] apparently in hopes to furnish a subject for another coroner's inquest.

A contemporary notes the fact that a bare footed boy was seen on the street yesterday, also [illegible] flock of wild geese flying northward. Now if a wild boy had been seen flying northward and a lot of barefooted geese seen on the street it would have been more singular.

Justice Greene decided yesterday that W. H. Whitcomb, captain of the steamer Fleetwood, was guilty of a technical assault upon the person of Frank Brown, a poll tax collector, whom he put off the boat when collecting from Chinese passengers. The fine imposed was $5.

The failure of the smelt crop this season has turned out to be a good thing for C. A. Malarkey. If the smelt had come Malarkey would have been obliged to pay out two or three thousand dollars for enough of them to supply his customer, and as they failed that money has been saved to buy new delivery wagons and harness. Two of the new outfits were on duty yesterday and are very handsome.

There is a mocking bird in a store on Morrison street which apparently never sleeps. All day long it whistles and sings and at night long it sings and whistles. The rascal appears to be endowed with preternatural sagacity, as when it hears a reporter wending its way home at 3 o'clock in the morning it invariably imitates a police whistle till the tired scribe is out of hearing.

THE EAST SIDE.

NEW SCHOOL TERM.

The new term of district No. 2 commenced yesterday and thorough organization was effected. Out of an enrollment of over 1000 there was an attendance of 803, which included an addition of 37 pupils distributed as follows: Central school 20, Stephens 8, primary [illegible]. Four promotions were made to the high school which now numbers [illegible] members. A new primary (charter) class presided over by Miss Aimes starts in with a membership of [illegible]. Miss Mary Henderson succeeds Mrs. Combs as teacher of the fifth grade. All details are satisfactorily arranged and the new term commences under favorable auspices.

NOTES

Four poisoned dogs were found dead upon the streets yesterday morning.

J. C. Wheeler returned last evening from his trip to Albany and Corvallis.

There was a light frost Sunday night, but no damage to fruit trees is reported.

Chief Engineer Sprigue was arraigned before the recorder yesterday morning and let off on a fine of $10.

J. H. Mori had his head slightly burned and bruised by a falling timber at the Albina fire Sunday evening.

H. D. McGuire slipped and fell Saturday evening while running in response to the fire alarm and injured his knee cap severely.

The protracted meetings which have been held nightly at the Baptist church for several weeks past have been discontinued for the present but special meetings will be held on Tuesday and Thursday evenings of the present week.

A report has gained general circulation to the effect that the Northern Pacific company has purchased from the Terminal company all the brick and other material intended for the proposed roundhouse at Albina the same to be shipped to Tacoma.

Mother's Smiles are the Sunlight of Home

There would be fewer clouds and brighter sunshine in many households if every dispirited suffering woman realized what a boon Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" is for all weaknesses and ailments to which her sex is liable. No lady who tries this wonderful remedy and trial will be disappointed by the result. It not only acts promptly upon all functional derangements, but by its rare tonic and nutritive properties strengthens and restores the whole feminine system. Price reduced to one dollar. BIG FIRE AT ASTORIA.

The Weston Hotel and Bain's Sash and Door Factory Destroyed

ASTORIA, March 23.

At [illegible] half past 12 o'clock this morning our citizens were aroused from their peaceful slumbers by the ever unwelcome and sonorous sound of the fire alarm bell. By the time any of them could hurriedly half dress and make for the windows in their residences which commanded the most advantageous view of the city there was no necessity to ask was it a fire or only a false alarm for the bright illumination of the sky extending far and wide and rendering every building in the city more plainly visible than in glaring sunlight revealed it that it was indeed a fire and one of no small dimensions. So vivid was the reflection of the already brilliant flame on nearly every residence and business building in the main portion of the city that every householder was justified in coming to the conclusion which nearly all of them did that the fire was in such close proximity to the very building they occupied as to render it necessary to wake up every inmate of the house and bid them prepare for the worst. Your correspondent with the rest did this very thing and having made sure that every inmate of the house was abruptly torn from his or her calm and comfortable surroundings as he himself had been, he then sallied forth to inquire the cause of the alarm. Following the stream of humanity which by this time had been thoroughly aroused by the continuous ringing of the fire alarm and lined the sidewalks on both sides of the street the secret of the quick fire and sudden illumination of the city was fully explained by the fact that the fire originated and was still fiercely blazing in Bain's sash and door factory, one of the oldest and most extensive frame buildings in the city. The fire department under the effective command of Ira Cyrus, the chief, who proved himself to be the right man in the right place, were promptly on the spot but it was evident from the start that Bain's factory with its accumulation of years of fine dust in every crevice of the well seasoned timbers composing the building was doomed inevitably to utter destruction and that the work of the department must be directed to the prevention if possible of the spreading of the fire to contiguous buildings. From the start it was conceded to be a physical impossibility to do even this so far as it applied to the large three story Weston hotel, owned by Mrs. Sophia Daggett, a building immediately in the rear of Bain's sash factory and which, like Mr. Bain's, covered the entire depth of the lot on which it was erected, thus bringing the rear of one building into such close proximity to the other as to be almost a continuation of one and the same structure. The intense heat from the two burning buildings ignited a two-story residence occupied by Mr George Hiller and owned by Captain A. C. Fisher, located on the lot adjoining the Weston hotel, and it was partially destroyed. With this exception, the fire may be said to have been confined to the buildings in which it originated and our energetic and efficient firemen have proved themselves as efficient in fighting the enemy with their helmets on as they have been, and anticipate they will be at the forthcoming firemen's tournament they are already making preparations to engage in this summer when gaily decked in their holiday attire. The losses sustained will approximate from $15,000 to $20,000 on which Mr Bain has an insurance of only $4000 and Mrs. Daggett $2500.

The origin of the fire is, as usual in such cases, all conjecture. It looks like the act of an incendiary as no work had been done and no fire lit in the factory since Saturday. Police officer Carlson, while patrolling the street running parallel in front of that on which the sash factory is located, discovered the fire, which then had but a small beginning, almost at Bain's front door, but such was the combustible nature of the material that by the time he had given the alarm and reached the spot, the whole front of the building was enveloped in flames. What insurance there is on the burned property is in the companies for which Van Dusen & Co. are agents in this city.

FREIGHTS—The Roslin Castle 644 tons has arrived under prior charter to Balfour Guthrie & Co for wheat loading, effected some time since. Spot business appears to be seriously thought of and shippers still hold back. At San Francisco an iron vessel secures 38s 3d for flour for orders. No wheat charter has been drawn at that port for nearly a month, but two vessels are being loaded for owners' account.

WHEAT—London cables quote slightly lower prices for off coast cargoes of red winter and California, but the markets are reported as very steady. Farmers deliveries at English markets are quite regular and very free for the time of year. The dull condition of foreign markets added to Pacific coast local influences operates against a free movement from California and Oregon. In the San Francisco market dry weather [illegible] an important figure, futures selling higher. With us the principal bar to free export business is limited offerings and scant request from the other side for, compared with San Francisco quotations holders' views here are not out of reason. Valley easily commands $1 25 for good lots, and more might be had for good sized parcels. Walla Walla has been in light receipt for the past three days. None is reported as offering here.

FLOUR—Fair local trade doing and shipments to British Columbia are of full proportions.

The Minneapolis Miller of the 18th inst says: The flour market has not been animated, but there has been a better demand for domestic consumption and millers who ten days ago were seriously contemplating a shut down are now working on orders which will keep them going some weeks, and are confident that the market will give them a chance to run steadily through the spring. The export demand is very light and offers are a shilling lower than last week but there is no anxiety about the foreign trade so long as domestic orders come in freely and production is limited by low water.

OATS—Receipts only fair, but the outgoing steamer carried about a thousand sacks. Local trade is not taking all offered. Quotations are without change.

POTATOES—About the usual shipments were made by the Oregon. Offerings to-day are light. The range of values is 15@30c per bushel.

Chickens—Selling at $4@4 50.

THE COURSE OF PACIFIC STOCKS

NEW YORK March 23—Kiernan's news agency sent out a statement this afternoon that Huntington [illegible] differences between the Union Pacific the Central Pacific and the Pacific Mail [illegible] This [illegible] caused considerable excitement in change and Wall street.

President J B Houston of the Pacific Mail declined to be interviewed.

D O Mills was [illegible] hurrying out of Houston's private office. "I understand that [illegible] has been adjusted," he said, "but I cannot speak authoritatively."

F T Colburn, Huntington's secretary, said: "The report is premature and is probably started by the Union Pacific or the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe people for speculative purposes. I neither affirm nor deny it. You may look for further developments this afternoon."

The Mail and Express says: The course of speculation in Pacific stocks, notably Pacific Mail and Union Pacific, was completely reversed this morning and the depression which was such a marked feature of dealings last week gave way to firmness and a higher range of quotations. The immediate cause of the change was an announcement from Denver that at a meeting there of the Transcontinental Railway Association the southern lines yielded and a harmonious conclusion was reached, it being agreed that the rates should be restored to the tariff in existence March 20 1884. This practically settles the difference between the railroads and it was at once inferred that the way had been paved for a settlement with the steamship company. On this information a heavy buying movement set in for both Pacific Mail and Union Pacific which gained force as they advanced and finally led to a very active market for shares. Brokers identified with large California operators started the ball in Pacific Mail and their purchases encouraged others buying for long account, also frightened the shorts into covering. The stock opened at 48s and also reacted to 47⅞ but subsequently rose to 51⅜. Union Pacific followed the course of Pacific Mail and advanced from 41⅝ to 43⅛, with large purchases for both long and short accounts. Central Pacific was comparatively quiet ranged between 30 and 31. Other Pacific stocks did very little and were merely firm in sympathy.

MARK LANE REVIEW

LONDON, March 23—The Mark Lane Express in its weekly review of the grain trade says: Autumn sown crops are in exceptionally good form. Wheat is strong and able to withstand frost or snow or respond to the genial influences of spring. The outlook is very promising. Sales of English wheat for week were 45 [illegible] quarters at 31s 11d against 56,862 quarters at 37s 3d the corresponding week last year. The off coast trade was confined to the sale of one cargo of California wheat which was sold on private terms leaving one cargo of California and four of Oregon on sale. At to-day's market there was little inquiry for wheat. English wheats were a little improved. Foreign wheat was unchanged except Australian, 6d@1s cheaper. Flour was depressed and 6d lower. Corn 3d@6d cheaper. Oats 3d lower. Beans and peas were unchanged.

The Br bk Roslin Castle arrived in last evening from Talcahuano in ballast to Balfour Guthrie & Co.

Ship Palmyra Captain Minot West Hartlepool for Cardiff struck on Manacle rocks on the night of the 14th inst and was towed off and beached at Falmouth half full of water.

The Olive S Southard was out fifty five days from Havre to New York.

The T F Oakes reports rough weather on the voyage from San Francisco to Hull. On December [illegible] met with a hard south [illegible] gale and ship became [illegible] when she [illegible] to fill up, decks full of water. Cargo shifting, to starboard and ship on beam ends for forty eight hours. All starboard boats were smashed to pieces in the lashings, one of the moving bits forward started running a large stream of water below so that when the force of the gale abated there was three feet of water in weather pump and the lee rail about six feet under water. It was necessary to jettison about thirty tons cargo after having shifted all possible to windward.

The question whether young women shall pursue the same line of studies as their brothers seems to find its chief objection in their different physical constitution. Arguments on this subject are finely handled on both sides, but the perfect adaptation of Mrs. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to the cure of ailments attending the feminine organism needs no argument. Its works are its proof.

A Clear Skin

is only a part of beauty; but it is a part. Every lady may have it, at least, what looks like it. Magnolia Balm both freshens and beautifies.

The fittest subject, for fever and ague and remittents, are the debilitated, bilious and nervous. To such persons, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters affords adequate protection by increasing vital stamina and the resistant power of the constitution and by checking irregularity of the liver, stomach and bowels. Moreover it eradicates malarial complaints of an obstinate type. A [illegible] plan is alone and unequaled among our national remedies.

For sale by all druggists and dealers generally.
